

The vaccine is ineffective

"I don't think the vaccine does anything. I know so many people who got the vaccine and then got COVID. It obviously doesn't work and they're just injecting whatever they want into us."

"The vaccine increases your body's ability to fight off COVID and decreases the likelihood that you would be hospitalized due to COVID. People who get the vaccine can still get COVID but the severity of their symptoms is usually much less than those who did not get vaccinated. Studies have shown that people who get vaccinated are less likely to get COVID, be hospitalized from COVID, or die from COVID."
